Canberra's Handmade Market has found a new home the DeVine Function Centre at Kamberra Wine Company in Lyneham.

The market is known for its designer wares, jewellery, clothing to paper goods, whimsical toys and decorating pieces for the home.

Handmade director and founder, Julie Nichols, says the response to Handmade this past year had been overwhelming, with more than 10,000 people attending September's market in 2009.

More than 80 per cent of market stalls are local artisans, craftspeople and designers.

Following its success, Handmade will be held four times in 2010, on March 28, June 5, September 11 and December 4 from 10am to 4pm.

The market also expects to expand its offering into a bricks and mortar store in the near future.
